About INCEIF-ISRA Publications

The International Shariah Research Academy for Islamic Finance (ISRA) was founded to advance research on Shariah and Islamic finance, as well as a repository for Shariah views (fatwas) and conduct research on contemporary issues. It also supports human capital development in Shariah expertise for the industry and provides a platform for practitioners, scholars, regulators and academicians to engage in research and dialogue domestically and internationally. As a division of INCEIF (International Centre for Education in Islamic Finance), ISRA benefits from its academic faculty and postgraduate students. The council of Scholars, a group of esteemed Shariah scholars, assists in ISRA's research direction.
