President's Message

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم

الحمد لله رب العالمين والصلاة والسلام على أشرف المرسلين سيدنا محمد وعلى آله وصحبه ومن تبعه بإحسان إلى يوم الدين

It is with gratitude to Allah SWT and great pleasure that I extend my warmest greetings to all distinguished guests, strategic partners, graduates, family members and friends on the occasion of the Third (3rd) Conferment Ceremony of the ASAS Certified Shariah Advisor (CSA) and Certified Shariah Practitioner (CSP) Programmes. This occasion marks another important milestone in our collective efforts to strengthen Islamic finance human capital and nurture a generation of competent, ethical and future-ready Shariah professionals.

The Third (3rd) Conferment Ceremony represents more than the conferment of professional qualifications. It reflects the growing maturity of the CSA and CSP programmes and the confidence placed in them by learners, employers, regulators and industry stakeholders. Since their introduction in 2017, the programmes have contributed towards developing professionals equipped with both sound Shariah knowledge and practical industry expertise, supporting the continued advancement of the Islamic finance ecosystem.

As Islamic finance continues to expand and evolve, the demand for competent and principled professionals has never been greater. New developments in digital finance, sustainability, artificial intelligence, Islamic social finance, cross-border transactions and other emerging areas present both opportunities and responsibilities. In this increasingly dynamic environment, professional certification and continuous learning play a vital role in ensuring that innovation remains guided by the principles and objectives of Shariah while upholding the integrity and credibility of the industry.

The CSA and CSP programmes were developed with this objective and aspiration in mind. By bringing together professionals from diverse educational and professional backgrounds, the programmes provide a multidisciplinary learning experience that integrates Shariah principles with practical knowledge in governance, law, accounting, risk management, compliance and finance. This holistic approach helps prepare professionals to address increasingly complex industry needs while contributing meaningfully to their respective organisations and communities.

Today, we celebrate the achievements of 105 graduates from various cohorts of the CSA and CSP programmes, including participants supported through strategic collaborations with Majlis Amanah Rakyat (MARA) and Yayasan Peneraju Pendidikan Bumiputera. We are particularly pleased to mark the conferment of the inaugural MARA-sponsored cohort, further demonstrating the impact of collaborative efforts in developing high-quality talent for the Islamic finance industry.

This milestone also provides an opportunity to reflect on the journey of ASAS. From its humble beginnings to its present role as a professional body supporting the development of Shariah expertise within the Islamic finance industry, ASAS has remained guided by a commitment to knowledge, professionalism and service. The progress we celebrate today has only been possible through the collective contributions of individuals and institutions who have believed in this mission and worked tirelessly to advance it.

On behalf of ASAS, I wish to record our deepest appreciation to Bank Negara Malaysia (BNM), Majlis Amanah Rakyat (MARA), Yayasan Peneraju Pendidikan Bumiputera, industry partners, ASAS members and all stakeholders whose support and collaboration have been instrumental in advancing Islamic finance human capital development.

I would also like to acknowledge the contributions of the former Presidents, EXCO members, Directors, and Secretariat of ASAS. Their vision, dedication and sacrifices have laid the foundation upon which the organisation continues to grow. May Allah SWT abundantly reward them for their service and contributions to the profession and the industry.

Looking ahead, ASAS remains committed to strengthening the quality and relevance of its professional certification programmes, expanding international engagement and fostering greater collaboration across the wider Islamic economy. Through these efforts, we aspire to contribute towards the development of globally recognised Shariah professionals and support Malaysia's continued position as a leading global hub for Islamic finance, In Shaa Allah.

As we commemorate this important occasion, let us renew our shared commitment to the advancement of knowledge, professionalism and excellence for the continued growth and sustainability of the Islamic finance industry.

CEO's Message

الحمد لله رب العالمين والصلاة والسلام على أشرف المرسلين سيدنا محمد وعلى آله وصحبه ومن تبعه بإحسان إلى يوم الدين

Alhamdulillah. It is with sincere pleasure that I extend my warmest congratulations to our graduates. I would also like to express my appreciation to our regulators, especially Bank Negara Malaysia (BNM), our strategic partners, including Yayasan Peneraju Pendidikan Bumiputera (YP), Majlis Amanah Rakyat (MARA), Association of Islamic Banking and Financial Institutions Malaysia (AIBIM), Malaysian Takaful Association (MTA), Association of Development Financial Institution of Malaysia (ADFIM), International Council of Islamic Finance Educators (ICIFE), as well as our trainers and the families gathered here today for the Third (3rd) Conferment Ceremony of the ASAS Certified Shariah Advisor (CSA) and Certified Shariah Practitioner (CSP) Programmes.

Each conferment has reflected a story of steady and deliberate growth, a journey of istiqamah, patience, sacrifice and support towards a greater purpose for Islamic finance in Malaysia and globally.

Our First (1st) Conferment Ceremony celebrated 70 graduates, followed by 87 graduates at our Second (2nd) Conferment Ceremony. Today, we confer 105 graduates, including the inaugural cohort supported by Majlis Amanah Rakyat (MARA). This trajectory reflects not only the expanding reach of the CSA and CSP programmes, but also the strengthening of the operational capacity behind them. We began our first cohort in November 2017 with just 13 learners.

This capacity has been built through the sustained efforts of the ASAS Certification team, supported by the ASAS Examination Board, ASAS EXCO, and other relevant parties within ASAS. In 2025 alone, we delivered 72 training classes across the Industry, YP, MARA, and joint Industry-MARA cohorts. We also conducted 104 examinations via the ASAS Certification platform, a system that has proven effective and efficient for both learners and management.

These efforts supported 561 registered learners; 381 pursuing the CSA programme and 180 pursuing the CSP programme across 28 intake cohorts. Of these, 17 cohorts have completed their programmes, including those attending today's Conferment Ceremony, while another 11 cohorts remain ongoing.

The year 2025 also brought structural progress. Two (2) new cohorts were introduced after ASAS was recognised as an Approved Learning and Training Institution (ALTI) by YP, and YP launched a new Silver, Gold and Platinum financing framework to widen access to the programmes.

We are equally grateful for the invaluable support of Majlis Amanah Rakyat (MARA) in broadening opportunities for aspiring Islamic finance professionals. Today's graduation of our first MARA-sponsored cohort reflects the success of this partnership and the groundwork laid to make these programmes accessible to a wider pool of learners.

In the years ahead, we hope to welcome an even wider and more diverse community of learners who will contribute to the Islamic finance and Maqasid agenda.

None of these achievements would have been possible without the continued confidence of Bank Negara Malaysia (BNM), the valuable partnerships of MARA and YP, and the dedication of our trainers, dedicated committee members, EXCO and the Certification team.

To our graduates, your achievement today is the clearest measure of this collective effort. It has been an honour for ASAS to accompany you throughout the past 26 months, or perhaps even longer for some of you, as you progressed through the ASAS CSA and CSP programmes, month by month, exam by exam and level by level.

As you move forward, you will face the real examination beyond the classroom. Carry with you the foundation that ASAS has provided, the friendships and professional connections developed within your cohorts and classmates, and most importantly, the amanah that you shoulder wherever you may be.

As ASAS looks ahead, we remain committed to strengthening the delivery, reach and rigour of the CSA and CSP programmes, ensuring that every future cohort continues to build upon the foundation that this graduating class has helped lay.

Once again, congratulations to all our graduates.

وصلى الله على سيدنا محمد وعلى آله وصحبه وسلم تسليماً كثيراً دائماً إلى يوم الدين

Association of Shariah Advisors in Islamic Finance Malaysia (ASAS)

Certification

The ASAS 3rd Conferment Ceremony marks another significant milestone in the Association of Shariah Advisors in Islamic Finance Malaysia (ASAS)'s ongoing commitment to developing competent, ethical, and highly skilled professionals who contribute meaningfully to the advancement of Shariah advisory and the Islamic finance industry.

Since the establishment of the Certified Shariah Advisor (CSA) and Certified Shariah Practitioner (CSP) Programmes, ASAS has continuously strengthened its certification ecosystem through regular programme enhancements and comprehensive reviews of its certification framework. These efforts are complemented by close collaboration with the Examination Board, industry practitioners, subject matter experts, and strategic partners to ensure that the programmes remain aligned with current industry practices and emerging developments. Through this collective commitment, the ASAS CSA and CSP Programmes continue to uphold the highest standards of professionalism, integrity, and Shariah compliance while remaining relevant, rigorous, and responsive to the evolving needs of the Islamic finance industry.

The progress achieved over the years reflects the dedication and unwavering support of the many individuals and organisations who have contributed to the growth and success of the certification programmes. Their invaluable contributions have enabled ASAS to continuously enhance the quality of its professional certification while fostering a growing community of practitioners committed to excellence in Shariah advisory and Islamic finance.

Certification

The 3rd Conferment Ceremony is not only a celebration of these collective achievements, but more importantly, a celebration of the remarkable accomplishments of our graduates.

This year, ASAS proudly celebrates the conferment of 105 graduates, comprising 72 Certified Shariah Advisors (CSA) and 33 Certified Shariah Practitioners (CSP). The ceremony is further distinguished by the presentation of the ASAS Honorary Learner Award to Dr Shamsiah binti Mohamad, in recognition of her outstanding leadership, distinguished contributions, and unwavering dedication to the advancement of the Islamic finance industry. Together, these milestones reflect the continued growth of the certification programmes and the increasing recognition of professional certification as an important benchmark of competency within the industry.

Behind every certification presented during this ceremony lies a story of perseverance, discipline, and determination. Many of our graduates have successfully balanced demanding professional responsibilities with their pursuit of certification, dedicating countless hours to expanding their knowledge, strengthening their competencies, and preparing themselves to meet the highest professional standards. Their achievements reflect not only academic and professional excellence but also an enduring commitment to lifelong learning and continuous professional development.

Certification

Professional certification, however, represents far more than the formal recognition of competency. It signifies the trust and responsibility placed upon every certified professional. In an industry founded upon the principles of justice, accountability, transparency, and ethical conduct, professional excellence is measured not only by technical expertise but also by the integrity, wisdom, and sound judgement with which that knowledge is applied.

As holders of the CSA and CSP certifications, today's graduates become ambassadors of the values that define the Shariah advisory profession. Through their expertise, professionalism, and ethical leadership, they play an important role in strengthening Shariah governance, enhancing public confidence, and supporting the sustainable growth of the Islamic finance industry. Their contributions will continue to shape institutions, influence sound decision-making, and uphold the principles that distinguish Islamic finance as a value-based financial system.

As ASAS continues its journey of strengthening professional certification, we remain steadfast in our commitment to fostering a culture of lifelong learning, continuous professional development, and meaningful industry collaboration. We are confident that our graduates will continue to lead with integrity, inspire future professionals, and contribute significantly to the continued growth and global advancement of Islamic finance.

To all our graduates, a heartfelt congratulations on reaching this significant milestone. May this achievement inspire you to continue seeking knowledge, embracing excellence, and serving with integrity and humility. We look forward to witnessing the positive impact each of you will make within your organisations, the Islamic finance industry, and the communities you serve.

Dr Shamsiah binti Mohamad

Dr Shamsiah binti Mohamad is widely recognised as one of Malaysia's leading Shariah scholars whose contributions have been instrumental in shaping the governance, development and advancement of Islamic finance. Throughout an illustrious career spanning academia, research, regulation and industry practice, she has emerged as a respected authority whose expertise continues to influence the evolution of contemporary Islamic financial systems.

Currently serving as the Resident Shariah Advisor of Amanie Advisors Sdn. Bhd., Dr Shamsiah brings together the rare combination of academic excellence, regulatory insight and practical industry experience. Her academic journey began at the University of Malaya (UM), where she obtained both her Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Shariah, before pursuing a Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) at the University of Jordan. She subsequently joined the Academy of Islamic Studies, University of Malaya (UM), where she served as Lecturer and later Associate Professor, nurturing generations of scholars and professionals while contributing significantly to the body of knowledge in Islamic jurisprudence and financial studies. Driven by a commitment to advancing Shariah scholarship beyond the classroom, Dr Shamsiah later joined the International Shariah Research Academy for Islamic Finance (ISRA) as a Senior Researcher. During her tenure, she contributed to pioneering research initiatives and intellectual discourse that strengthened the theoretical and regulatory foundations of Islamic finance. Her work helped bridge the gap between classical Islamic jurisprudence and the practical demands of an increasingly sophisticated global financial landscape.

Among her most notable achievements was her appointment to the Shariah Advisory Council of the Securities Commission Malaysia, one of the highest and most influential Shariah advisory bodies in the country. Through this role, she contributed to the development of Shariah standards, regulatory frameworks and governance principles that have supported Malaysia's emergence as a global leader in Islamic capital markets. Her service on the Shariah Advisory Council of Bank Negara Malaysia (BNM) further underscored the confidence placed in her expertise in guiding national policies and ensuring the integrity of Malaysia's Islamic financial system.

Dr Shamsiah's distinguished career is further reflected in her leadership roles across key financial institutions and regulatory bodies, including Bursa Malaysia, Standard Chartered Saadiq Berhad, Bank Muamalat Malaysia Berhad, MNRB Holding, SME Bank, BIMB and numerous other organisations. Through these appointments, she played a pivotal role in strengthening Shariah governance frameworks, enhancing institutional accountability and promoting ethical financial practices across the industry.

One of her significant contributions to the development of Malaysia's Islamic finance ecosystem was her secondment as a Shariah Expert to the Islamic Capital Market Department of the Securities Commission Malaysia between 2005 and 2008. This appointment placed her at the forefront of regulatory innovation during a crucial period of growth in the Islamic capital market sector. Her involvement contributed to strengthening Malaysia's reputation as an international reference point for Islamic finance and Shariah-compliant investment practices.

Beyond financial institutions, Dr Shamsiah has consistently demonstrated a deep commitment to public service and community development. Her longstanding involvement with organisations such as the Lembaga Zakat Selangor, the TH-JAKIM Hajj Worship Advisory Committee, and the National Farmers Organisation (NAFAS) reflects her dedication to ensuring that Shariah principles continue to guide societal development and the welfare of the Muslim community.

Throughout more than two decades of service, Dr Shamsiah has become synonymous with scholarly excellence, integrity and principled leadership. Her contributions have not only strengthened the foundations of Islamic finance in Malaysia but have also helped shape industry practices and governance standards that continue to influence stakeholders across jurisdictions. Widely respected by regulators, academics and industry practitioners alike, she remains a prominent figure whose work exemplifies the highest standards of knowledge, professionalism and public service.

Today, Dr Shamsiah's legacy extends far beyond her numerous appointments and achievements. Her enduring influence is reflected in the continued growth of Malaysia's Islamic finance industry, the development of future generations of Shariah professionals, and the strengthening of governance frameworks that uphold the values of justice, ethics and accountability. Through her distinguished career and unwavering commitment to excellence, she continues to inspire scholars, regulators and practitioners who aspire to advance the global Islamic finance agenda.
